
THE COURIER-NEWS

SECTIONS

ADVERTISEMENT

ELGIN COURIER-NEWS SUBURBS

Elgin saving money by pulling fire engine out of service because firefighters won't give up pay raise, officials say

By GLORIA CASAS
ELGIN COURIER-NEWS | FEB 10, 2021

FEEDBACK

Subscribers, get Chicago's top newsletter

Sign up for Daywatch

The city of Elgin has proposed removing Engine 6 from service at its 707 E. Chicago St. station in an effort to save money in the 2021 budget. (City of Elgin / HANDOUT)

Listen to this article

The Elgin Fire Department plans to take a Station 6 fire engine out of service on some days in order to save money on staffing and overtime, Elgin Fire Chief Robb Cagann said.

What's not happening, Cagann emphasized at Wednesday night's Elgin City Council meeting, is the closure of 707 E. Chicago St. station.

FEEDBACK

ADVERTISING

Subscribers, get Chicago's top newsletter

Sign up for Daywatch

“There’s a fair amount of confusion of what is transpiring,” he said. “There’s a belief that Station 6 is closing. It is not true.”

When the engine is not in service, it will be replaced by an ambulance crew. The engine requires three people whereas the ambulance only needs two.

ADVERTISEMENT

If the plan is implemented, the engine would not be used for 280 days. The ambulance, not the engine, would respond to emergency calls, he said.

FEEDBACK

[\[Most read\] Five reputed gang members charged in RICO conspiracy that includes brazen fatal shooting of Chicago rapper FBG Duck »](#)

Elgin Association of Firefighters Local 439 is opposed to the plan, which city spokeswoman Molly Gillespie said has been necessitated by the union refusing to forgo its 2.5% raise this year.

Subscribers, get Chicago's top newsletter

Sign up for Daywatch

In a statement posted on social media, the union said taking the engine out of commission for that many days will result in a reduction in services for residents. Engine 6 responded to more than 3,000 calls last year, the union post said.

"If you live, work or own a business in Elgin, it is imperative that you contact the Council Members ... to state your opposition to this reduction in service," the post said.

Cagann told the council that the union post was a little misleading. Engine 6 did handled 3,000 last year but citywide, not just within the Station 6 district.

Of those calls, more than 2,100 involved a need for Emergency Medical Services, he said.

[\[Most read\] Defy city vaccine deadline, Chicago police union boss tells officers. Mayor responds to threat of FOP lawsuit: 'Bring it' »](#)

With the adjustment, "we're adding an enhancement to our EMS capabilities within the city," he said.

While Engine 6 is one of the busiest vehicles for the department, but Station 6 is not the busiest station, he said. Stations 1 and 4 have more calls, Cagann said.

"Those are distinct differences that have not been explained well in public," he said.

When asked by Councilman Corey Dixon about response times, the chief acknowledged the change could create some delays.

The National Fire Protection Agency recommends a fire engine respond to a scene within four minutes of firefighters leaving a station, he said. While a vast majority of calls in District 6 will meet that time, calls to other parts of the city could take a little longer. he said.

FEEDBACK

Subscribers, get Chicago's top newsletter

Sign up for Daywatch

“It’s important for the community to understand there will still be highly trained firefighters at your emergency in a timely fashion,” Cagann said, but qualified later that “there is no way for me to be able to quantify what this impact is going to be today.

[\[Most read\] The 30 best college towns in America »](#)

“I would not say our plan renders the loss of a fire engine to be insignificant in any stretch, but I believe the plan our staff has come up with certainly minimizes the impact to the community,” he said.

Dixon said he wasn’t sure he could support the idea.

“These proposed changes make me uncomfortable in the fact we don’t know which zones will receive that increase in the time it will take to get there,” he said.

He also cited concern that many of the city’s low-income households and properties are located on the east side of the Station 6 district. “The optics of this just makes me uncomfortable,” Dixon said.

Union President Joe Galli, speaking prior to the meeting, said what concerns them is the proposal would reduce the daily staffing number from 31, the minimum number for current fire station operations, to 30,

[\[Most read\] Ask Amy: Friend’s husband is a bull in her china shop »](#)

“On some days, it could be really bad. On some days, it may not be noticed,” Galli said. “The problem is our calls are not by appointment. We can’t predict when emergencies are going to happen. It just remains to be seen how bad it will be.”

SECTIONS

Jumble Daily & Crossword
Play Now

the department manager, one they can achieve if members are unwilling to give up

Subscribers, get Chicago's top newsletter

Sign up for Daywatch

Nonunion staff won't be getting cost-of-living raises this year, Gillespie said in a statement, and last year there were layoffs in the Parks and Recreation Department and 5% to 10% salary cuts for city management. That helped resolve a $2.8 million shortfall in the 2020 budget, she said.

Nonunion staff not receiving raises will save Elgin taxpayers about $1.6 million in 2021 and $4.6 million over the course of the next three years, Gillespie said.

Employees in collective bargaining units were exempted from the wage reductions in 2020 with the understanding that they would be asked to go without their raises in 2021, she said.

[\[Most read\] Marist High School students protest after peers knelt during a Spanish-language song at homecoming: 'We feel unsafe' »](#)

Galli said the city's statement contains some true "and some false statements." "We didn't insist on taking our raises," he said. "We insisted on getting a promise they are not going to cut staff."

"To say we are refusing is disingenuous," Galli said. "The city is holding the football, asking us to kick it. We aren't going to do it."

In 2011, the union approved a concession and less than a year later, the city cut positions that have never been restored, he said. Firefighters are willing to renegotiate the final year of their union contract, which expires in December, he said, but the city isn't willing to do that.

The union decided to inform residents about city officials' plans because "it's the taxpayers' fire department," Galli said.

Raising taxes to increase revenue is not an option right now, Gillespie said. "Seeking additional revenue from its residents and businesses during an economic downturn should only be an option of last resort," she said.

Subscribers, get Chicago's top newsletter

Sign up for Daywatch

Sugar Grove: Startup Is Changing the Way People Retire

SmartAsset | Sponsored

These Cars Are So Loaded It's Hard to Believe They're So Cheap

Luxury SUVs | Search Ads | Sponsorizzato

The Richest Family in Every U.S. State

FamilyMinded | Sponsorizzato

Everything You Need to Know about macOS Monterey

CleanMyMac by MacPaw | Sponsored

Ranked: The Unfriendliest States In America

MoneyWise.com | Sponsorizzato

Amazon Has Millions of Prime Subscribers — But Few Know About This Savings Trick

Capital One Shopping | Sponsorizzato

15 Most Gorgeous Mountain Towns in America

Thrillist | Sponsored

Column: As vaccine incentive, Joe Biden must offer to reinstate Donald Trump as president

As Joe Biden continues his push to get 70% of American adults vaccinated against the coronavirus by July 4, one incentive he should offer is to reinstate Donald Trump as president.

Chicago Tribune

Subscribers, get Chicago's top newsletter

Sign up for Daywatch

This job has taken me on a journey I never could have imagined while growing up in the little mill

Chicago Tribune

Greatest High School Basketball Teams of All Time

Stadium Talk | Sponsored

America's 24 Most Charming Small Towns

POPSUGAR | Sponsorizzato

61 Celebrity Mothers and Daughters at The Same Age

Elle | Sponsorizzato

Five reputed gang members charged in RICO conspiracy that includes slaying of Chicago rapper FBG Duck

Chicago Tribune

Daily horoscope for October 13, 2021

Chicago Tribune

25 Best Small Lake Towns in the U.S.

Far & Wide | Sponsored

You May Like

Sponsored Links

Accept challenge, decide who you'll be in a month

madmuscles.com

Subscribers, get Chicago's top newsletter

Sign up for Daywatch

56 Gloriously Awkward Photos Of Celebrities At Prom

Elle

Ranked: The Most To Least Educated States In The US

MoneyWise.com

by Taboola

ADVERTISEMENT

CONNECT

TRIBUNE PUBLISHING

New York Daily News

The Baltimore Sun

Orlando Sentinel

Sun Sentinel of Fla.

The Morning Call of Pa.

Hartford Courant

Daily Press of Va.

The Virginian-Pilot

The Daily Meal

Studio 1847

COMPANY INFO

Careers

About us

Help Center

Privacy Policy

Subscribers, get Chicago's top newsletter

Sign up for Daywatch

Manage Web Notifications

Chicago Tribune Store

Media kit

Copyright © 2021, Chicago Tribune

Subscribers, get Chicago's top newsletter

Sign up for Daywatch